

SNDT Leadership Training Camp 2026–2027 (10th to 12th August, 2026)

The Department of Students' Development, SNDT Women's University, Mumbai, organised the SNDT Leadership Training Camp 2026–2027 for student leaders from affiliated colleges and institutions. This three-day camp was organized with the objective of motivating and transforming student leaders into confident and responsible leaders of tomorrow.

The college nominated Ms. Neha Amarnath Yadav, a student of S.Y.B.Com., to represent the college at this prestigious programme.

The camp was designed with the following broad objectives:

- To develop leadership qualities among college students.
- To motivate student leaders to take initiative and responsibility.
- To build confidence and strengthen effective leadership skills.
- To encourage students to become responsible and proactive members of their institutions and society.
- To provide opportunities for interaction and collaborative learning among student leaders from different colleges.
- To transform promising student leaders into capable and responsible leaders of tomorrow.
- To enhance communication, interpersonal, and organisational abilities.

The University specifically invited colleges to nominate their best student leaders who demonstrated fluency in English, Hindi, and Marathi, with the aim of motivating them and shaping them into better leaders.

Participation in the Leadership Training Camp proved to be a valuable exposure for both the students and the college. The programme encouraged student leaders to understand the importance of leadership beyond academic achievement and to recognise their role in contributing positively to the college community.

The camp also helped participants develop qualities such as:

- Confidence and self-awareness
- Responsibility and accountability
- Communication and interpersonal skills
- Teamwork and cooperation
- Initiative and decision-making
- Positive attitude towards leadership
- Commitment towards institution and society

The experience is expected to enable student leaders to bring back the knowledge and perspectives gained during the camp, contributing more effectively to student activities and institutional initiatives. The college appreciates the initiative of SNDT Women's University in providing such meaningful opportunities for leadership development. The exposure gained by Ms. Neha Amarnath Yadav is expected to contribute significantly to her personal growth, leadership abilities, and active participation in the college community.
